Your Career Profile

How to read this report

This is not a test with right or wrong answers. It shows what your answers say about you and what that could mean for your future. Treat it as advice, not a rule: nothing here is set in stone, and no single career or field is the only right choice. One field of study can lead to many different careers.

- Careers that fit you: how well each one matches you, what to build, one thing to do now, and how AI may change it.
- Fields of study to explore: degrees and fields that lead to those careers, with a simple way to try each one before you choose.
- Your plan: one small step for this week, then a 90-day path.
- Your profile: your interests, values, strengths and work style. This is why the careers were chosen.

Careers that fit you

We compared your personality, values and strengths with each career. The percentage shows how close the fit is. Each card also shows how AI may change that career. These are not the only options. Do not judge a career by its title; read what the work involves.

Investment Banker

Strong
FIT

New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your interests in Enterprising, Conventional, and Investigative work, all tied at 100, suggest you enjoy strategic thinking and problem-solving, which are key in investment banking.

Lawyer

Strong
FIT

New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your high Investigative and Enterprising interests, both tied at 100, indicate you like to analyze problems and persuade others, which are central to a legal career.

Military Officer

Strong
FIT

New direction

Your combined interests in Enterprising, Conventional, and Investigative work, all tied at 100, along with your Leadership and Execution strengths, also tied at 100, match the disciplined and goal-oriented nature of military service.

HOW AI MAY CHANGE YOUR CAREERS

Your top strengths in relationships, communication, and leadership are very valuable across your matched career areas. While some tasks in these fields can be supported by artificial intelligence, your human-centered strengths will remain important. You can expect to use AI as a tool to help with certain tasks, allowing you to focus more on the strategic and personal aspects of these roles.

Investment Banker

Strong
FIT

Finance | Strong fit | New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your interests in Enterprising, Conventional, and Investigative work, all tied at 100, suggest you enjoy strategic thinking and problem-solving, which are key in investment banking. Your strong interest in wealth and status, also tied at 100, aligns with the goals in this field. A bachelor's degree in finance or business administration would prepare you for this career.

The finance sector in Saudi Arabia is expanding, especially with national economic diversification efforts.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

You would need a bachelor's degree in finance, business, or a related analytical field and to build knowledge of financial markets.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

1. You could explore a free online course on basic finance principles or how markets work. – This would help you understand the core ideas of finance and see if this area sparks your interest.
2. Talking to someone who works in the finance industry, perhaps through a virtual career fair, is recommended. – This allows you to learn about daily tasks and career paths directly from professionals.
3. It would be helpful to consider majors like finance, economics, or business administration when you apply to university. – These fields provide the essential knowledge and skills needed for a career in investment banking.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Medium

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Analyzing large sets of market data
- Drafting initial client reports
- Creating basic financial models

Global evidence: General industry reports indicate that AI tools are increasingly streamlining research and data analysis in finance, helping professionals to focus more on higher-level strategic decisions. This does not mean jobs will disappear, but tasks will shift.

In your market: The finance sector in the GCC is generally open to new technology, and AI adoption for efficiency in tasks is a general trend. This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Complex deal negotiation | Client relationship management | Strategic problem-solving for unique situations

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

While you are still in high school, it would be helpful to understand how technology assists financial analysis. A good next step could be to explore introductory courses in finance or data literacy to see how data is used in business.

Lawyer

Strong FIT

Legal | Strong fit | New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your high Investigative and Enterprising interests, both tied at 100, indicate you like to analyze problems and persuade others, which are central to a legal career. Your Communication and Strategic strengths, also tied at 100, are important for building strong arguments. A bachelor's degree in law would be the necessary foundation for this profession.

The legal sector is essential in any growing economy, with demand for legal services increasing due to new regulations and projects in Saudi Arabia.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

You would need to pursue a bachelor's degree in law and gain a deep understanding of legal frameworks and practices.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

1. It is recommended to watch online videos or read introductory materials about different areas of law, such as business law or international law. – This can help you understand the diverse roles lawyers play and find areas that you might enjoy.
2. You could consider visiting a local court or attending an open day at a law school, if possible. – This gives you a firsthand look at the legal environment and educational path.
3. A good next step would be to research universities that offer law degrees and understand their admission requirements. – Knowing the requirements helps you plan your high school studies to prepare for a law major.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Medium

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Reviewing large volumes of legal documents (e.g., e-discovery)
- Conducting preliminary legal research for precedents
- Drafting standard contracts or basic legal memos

Global evidence: Legal technology reports indicate AI is increasingly used for tasks like document review and contract analysis, allowing lawyers to focus on higher-level strategy and client interaction.

In your market: The legal sector in the GCC is seeing increasing interest in legal technology for efficiency, but traditional legal practice still emphasizes human expertise and interpretation. This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Strategic legal advice and client counseling | Courtroom advocacy and persuasive argumentation | Ethical judgment and complex negotiation

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

Building your ability to think critically and analyze complex information would be very helpful. Participating in debate clubs or studying subjects that involve logical reasoning could be a good preparation.

Military Officer

Strong
FIT

Government | Worth exploring | New direction

Your combined interests in Enterprising, Conventional, and Investigative work, all tied at 100, along with your Leadership and Execution strengths, also tied at 100, match the disciplined and goal-oriented nature of military service. Your strong value for National Contribution, tied at 100, also suggests this path could be meaningful for you. You would typically pursue a university degree in fields like political science, engineering, or even business to become an officer.

This career offers clear pathways for promotion and leadership development within a national institution, though government hiring has faced temporary freezes in 2026.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

This role requires specific academic qualifications, leadership training, and a commitment to public service, typically through a military academy or university ROTC program.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

1. It would be helpful to research military academies or university programs that prepare individuals for officer roles. – This helps you understand the specific educational and physical requirements for this career path.
2. You could try to speak with someone currently serving as an officer, perhaps through a family connection or community event. – Learning directly about their experiences can provide valuable insight into the daily life and demands of the role.
3. A good next step is to participate in leadership activities in school or your community to develop your leadership skills. – Strong leadership is a key quality for a military officer.

Real Estate Agent

Strong
FIT

Real Estate | Strong fit | New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your high Enterprising interest (100), along with your Communication and Relationships strengths (both tied at 100), are well-suited for the sales and negotiation aspects of real estate. Your high interest in wealth and freedom, both tied at 100, also aligns with the potential for commission-based income and independence in this role. A business or marketing major would be a good foundation.

The real estate sector in Saudi Arabia is experiencing significant growth due to large-scale development projects across the country.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

You would need to pursue a business-related degree and then complete specific real estate licensing requirements.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

You could visit local real estate agencies or browse online property listings to understand the market in your area.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Medium

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Generating property listings and descriptions
- Basic market research for property valuation
- Answering simple client questions about properties
- Initial property matching based on simple criteria

Global evidence: Real estate platforms use AI for property valuation and matching, but human agents remain vital for complex transactions and providing personal client service, according to industry reports.

In your market: In the GCC, personal relationships and trust are very important in real estate. AI tools are emerging for property search, but human agents remain central. This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

- Building trust and personal relationships with clients
- Skilled negotiation during complex transactions
- Understanding client's unspoken needs and local market nuances
- Navigating complex regulations and solving problems during sales

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

Developing strong interpersonal skills and learning about local community needs would be valuable. You could practice your communication skills by engaging in school clubs or leadership roles.

Sports Coach

Strong FIT

Sports | Worth exploring | New direction | AI impact risk: Low

Your high Enterprising interest (100), combined with your Leadership and Relationships strengths (both tied at 100), makes you a good fit for guiding and motivating athletes. Your high extraversion (100) suggests you would enjoy the high-interaction nature of this role, and a degree in sports science or physical education could be useful.

Opportunities for sports coaches can grow with increased investment in sports programs and community health initiatives.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

This career typically requires a degree in sports science or physical education, along with specific coaching certifications for your chosen sport.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW
You could volunteer to help coach a local youth sports team or assist with sports activities in your community.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Low

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Analyzing simple athlete performance data (e.g., speed, distance)
- Suggesting general training routines based on basic metrics
- Providing common nutritional advice

Global evidence: General trends suggest that AI tools can help track athlete performance and suggest training adjustments, but the human element of coaching, like motivation, empathy, and psychological support, remains crucial.

In your market: Sports coaching in the GCC highly values direct human interaction and cultural understanding. AI adoption for coaching support is a general trend. This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Inspiring and motivating athletes | Personalized feedback and psychological support | Managing team dynamics and real-time tactical adjustments

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU
Focusing on developing strong communication and leadership skills is a good idea. You could consider volunteering to help coach a local sports team or leading a school project to practice motivating others.

Career Counselor

Strong FIT

Social Services | Strong fit | New direction

Your high Investigative interest (100) aligns with understanding people's needs, and your strong Communication and Relationships strengths (both tied at 100) are crucial for guiding individuals effectively. Your high agreeableness (100) supports a helping role, and a degree in psychology, human resources, or education would be beneficial.

With economic diversification and a focus on national workforce development, demand for career guidance and development services is expected to increase.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE
You would need a bachelor's degree in psychology, human resources, or a related field, and potentially specific counseling certifications.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW
You could read articles about different career paths and the job market in Saudi Arabia to develop a broad understanding of opportunities.

Life Coach

Strong
FIT

Social Services | Worth exploring | New direction | AI impact risk: Low

Your high Enterprising and Investigative interests, both tied at 100, along with your Leadership, Communication, and Relationships strengths, all tied at 100, are excellent for helping individuals achieve their personal goals. Your interest in impact and freedom, both tied at 100, also resonates with the personal influence and autonomy this role can offer. A degree in psychology or a related social science field is often a foundation.

The field of personal development and coaching is expanding as people seek guidance in various aspects of their lives.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE
You would typically need a degree in psychology or a related field, followed by specialized coaching training and certification.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW
You could explore free online resources or books about personal development and motivational techniques.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Low

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Providing generic self-help information
- Suggesting common goal-setting frameworks
- Organizing basic schedules or reminders

Global evidence: While AI can offer chatbots for well-being support, the unique human connection, empathy, and personalized guidance of a life coach are not replicable by current AI, according to general social science trends.

In your market: In the GCC, personal guidance and mentorship are highly valued. The human element of life coaching is considered essential. AI support for well-being is a general trend. This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Active listening and empathetic understanding | Asking insightful questions to guide self-discovery | Building trust and providing personalized motivation | Emotional intelligence and understanding human behavior

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

Your natural strengths in relationships and communication would be very valuable here. Seeking opportunities to mentor younger students or lead group discussions could help you practice these skills.

Personal Trainer

Strong
FIT

Sports | Worth exploring | New direction

Your Enterprising interest (100) and strong Communication and Relationships strengths (both tied at 100) are useful for motivating clients and building rapport. Your high extraversion (100) also fits with an interactive role, and a degree in sports science or nutrition would provide a good educational base.

The health and wellness sector is growing, creating more opportunities for personal trainers in gyms and private settings.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

This career requires specific certifications in personal training, often built upon a degree in a health or exercise science field.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

You could research common fitness routines and basic nutrition guidelines, perhaps by following reputable online fitness channels.

05

Your plan

One small step for this week, then a simple 90-day path, built around your top career match

Built around your top match: Investment Banker

Your first step this week

A good first step is to compare two or three university majors that could lead to careers like Investment Banker, Lawyer, or even a Military Officer. You could explore Business Administration, Law, or a Social Science program like International Relations. For each major, look up its typical course subjects and how long the program usually takes.

Why: This helps you understand what each study path involves and how it connects to your matched career interests, especially those that align with your Enterprising, Conventional, and Investigative tendencies.

> YOU WILL PRODUCE
> A short comparison table or a few bullet points outlining key features of each major.

> WHEN
> Within 2 days, about 1 hour

Worksheet:

Major Name

Core Subjects Taught

Length of Program

Potential Matched Careers

Days 2-7

Days 2-3 – We suggest finding one or two brief (5-10 minute) online videos or articles that explain a typical 'day in the life' of a student in one of the majors you compared in your first step.
You will produce: A few short notes about what a student's daily routine or main tasks might involve in that major.

Day 4 – You could identify one or two free online introductory courses related to a subject from one of the majors you found interesting (e.g., an intro to finance for Investment Banker, or an intro to legal thinking for Lawyer). Browse the course description and the first lesson.
You will produce: A list of 1-2 online course titles and a sentence or two about what each course's first lesson covered.

Days 5-6 – It would help to write down three questions you have about pursuing a specific major, considering how it might lead to a career like Real Estate Agent or a Sports Coach. For example: "What types of internships are common for this major?", "What are the common challenges students face?", or "What kind of projects would I work on?"
You will produce: A list of your three questions about a specific major and its career connections.

Day 7 – A good way to end the week is to review what you produced and pick the next step, considering which major or career path felt most interesting to you.
You will produce: A decision about which major you would like to explore further, or which career path resonates most right now.

Your next 90 days

1 Weeks 2-4 – Build momentum

We advise you to look for online interviews or profiles of professionals working in roles like Investment Banker, Lawyer, or a Career Counselor, particularly those in the GCC. Pay attention to their educational backgrounds.

It would help to explore what university degrees are common for professions such as Military Officer or Sports Coach in Saudi Arabia or other GCC countries. You could check university websites for relevant bachelor's degree programs.

You could consider taking a short, free online course (2-4 hours) in an area like basic financial literacy or an introduction to legal concepts, which could support careers in finance or law.

2 Months 2-3 – Build

It would be beneficial to identify university open days or virtual events for programs related to your matched careers, such as business, law, or social sciences. This can help you learn more about specific universities in the GCC.

A good next step would be to try to connect with a university student or recent graduate in a field like business, law, or sports science. You could ask them about their experience and how their studies relate to careers like Investment Banker or Personal Trainer.

We suggest mapping out the typical educational requirements for 2-3 of your matched careers, like Lawyer or Military Officer, from high school through to a bachelor's degree. This will give you a clearer picture of the path ahead.

Your skills to build and practice exercise: Investment Banker

SKILLS TO BUILD

Critical evaluation of AI-generated information – As AI helps with research and data, the ability to check if information is correct and complete becomes very important for making good decisions.

Complex problem-solving and strategic thinking – AI can help with basic analysis, but human judgment is needed to solve difficult business problems and plan smart strategies for clients.

PRACTICE EXERCISE

A good exercise would be to ask a free AI tool to summarize recent news about a major economic trend in the GCC (for example, oil prices or a new development project). Then, research the same trend using reliable news sources and official reports. Compare the AI summary with your own research, noting any differences or details the AI missed. Think about what deeper, strategic questions you would ask a client based on your findings.

YOU WILL HAVE

You will have two documents: the AI-generated summary and your notes from independent research, along with your reflections on the AI's accuracy and completeness, and a list of strategic questions you would ask a client.
