Your strong interests in leading, organizing, and investigating complex problems, all scoring 100, suggest a good fit for this field.

Lawyer

Strong
FIT

New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your top interests in investigating, organizing, and leading, all at 100, strongly suit the analytical, structured, and influential nature of legal work.

Career Counselor

Strong
FIT

New direction

Your strong interests in investigating options, leading, and helping others, combined with your high scores in relationships, communication, and leadership, make you well-suited for this role.

HOW AI MAY CHANGE YOUR CAREERS

Your top career matches involve a blend of strategic thinking, interpersonal skills, and analytical tasks. While artificial intelligence is changing how routine data processing and initial research are done in these fields, your strengths in building relationships, clear communication, and leadership will be even more important.

Paths you may not have considered

Investment Banker

Strong
FIT

Finance | Strong fit | New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your strong interests in leading, organizing, and investigating complex problems, all scoring 100, suggest a good fit for this field. Your interest in wealth and status, both at 100, also aligns with the potential rewards of this demanding profession. To pursue this, you would typically study finance, economics, or a related quantitative field in university.

The financial sector in Saudi Arabia is growing with significant national projects, offering good career growth opportunities.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

As you are currently a student, the main gap is gaining specific knowledge in finance and relevant work experience like internships.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

1. Taking a free online course in financial markets or investment principles is recommended to understand the basics. – This helps you learn the foundational terms and concepts used in investment banking, which is key for a new field.
2. Speaking with someone who works in the finance industry, perhaps through a university career event, would be a good way to gain insight into the daily work. – Understanding the actual day-to-day life of an investment banker helps you see if it truly matches your expectations and work style preference.
3. Exploring university programs that offer majors in finance, economics, or business administration with a finance focus would be a practical next step for your studies. – A relevant degree is a fundamental requirement for entering the investment banking field and provides the necessary academic foundation.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Medium

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Gathering market data
- Creating initial financial models
- Drafting basic company reports
- Summarizing news and regulatory changes

Global evidence: General industry trends indicate that artificial intelligence tools are increasingly used in finance for data analysis, risk assessment, and automating routine reporting. This allows human professionals to focus on higher-level strategy and client interaction.

In your market: This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data. In the GCC, financial institutions are also exploring and adopting AI for efficiency, particularly in areas like market analysis and compliance checks.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Building and maintaining client relationships | Negotiating complex deals | Strategic decision-making | Ethical judgment | Understanding client emotions and needs

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

As a university student, it would be helpful to understand how financial data is analyzed and presented. You could consider taking a short online course that covers basic financial modeling and data interpretation.

Lawyer

Strong
FIT

Legal | Strong fit | New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your top interests in investigating, organizing, and leading, all at 100, strongly suit the analytical, structured, and influential nature of legal work. Your communication, strategic, and learning strengths, all also at 100, are highly valuable for this role. To become a lawyer, you would need to study law at university.

The legal sector in Saudi Arabia is expanding and modernizing, especially with new business regulations, creating steady growth potential.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

Your current stage as a student means you need to gain specific legal education and practical experience, such as internships in law firms.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

1. Exploring various legal fields, such as corporate law or intellectual property law, through online resources or public talks would be helpful. – Understanding different areas of law can help you identify which specializations align best with your interests and your high investigative score.
2. Joining a university debate club or a student organization focused on legal topics is a good way to develop your communication and critical thinking skills. – Strong communication and strategic thinking are essential for lawyers, aligning with your high scores in these strengths.
3. Researching universities in the GCC that offer a Bachelor of Law degree is recommended to plan your academic path. – A Bachelor of Law degree is the foundational education needed to pursue a legal career in Saudi Arabia and other GCC countries.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Medium

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Reviewing large volumes of legal documents
- Conducting basic legal research
- Drafting standard contracts
- Predicting case outcomes based on past data

Global evidence: Published research and industry reports indicate that artificial intelligence tools are transforming legal research, document review, and contract analysis by increasing efficiency. This allows lawyers to dedicate more time to strategic thinking.

In your market: This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data. Legal firms in the GCC are increasingly adopting technology for efficiency, but the demand for skilled legal professionals who can provide tailored advice is stable.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Advising clients on complex legal strategies | Persuasive argument in court | Ethical decision-making | Understanding human nuances in case details | Client counseling and trust-building

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

As a student, it would be helpful to practice critical thinking and clear writing. You could join a moot court society or take an online course on legal writing to sharpen these skills.

Career Counselor

Strong FIT

Social Services | Strong fit | New direction

Your strong interests in investigating options, leading, and helping others, combined with your high scores in relationships, communication, and leadership, make you well-suited for this role. Your desire for impact and national contribution, both at 100, aligns well with guiding others toward fulfilling paths. A university degree in human resources, psychology, or education would typically lead to this career.

With a focus on national talent development in Saudi Arabia, career counseling services are increasingly important and offer good growth prospects.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

You would need to gain formal education in counseling or human resources, and develop practical skills in guiding individuals.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

1. Volunteering to mentor younger students or assist with university orientation programs is a good way to gain early experience in guidance. – This helps you practice communication and relationship-building, which are key strengths for a career counselor.
2. Researching different counseling approaches or career development theories through free online resources would be beneficial. – Learning about various techniques will deepen your understanding of how to effectively guide individuals in their career choices.
3. Investigating university programs in psychology, human resources, or education in Saudi Arabia or other GCC countries is a good step to prepare for the academic requirements. – These degrees provide the necessary academic background and theoretical knowledge for a career in counseling.

Real Estate Agent

Strong FIT

Real Estate | Strong fit | New direction | AI impact risk: Medium

Your strong enterprising interest at 100, combined with high communication and relationship strengths, positions you well for sales and negotiation. Your interest in wealth and freedom, both at 100, often aligns with the independent nature and earning potential in real estate. To pursue this, a business or sales-focused university degree, or specialized real estate certifications, would be beneficial.

The real estate market in Saudi Arabia is dynamic, driven by large-scale development projects, offering significant opportunities for agents.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

You would need to acquire specific knowledge of real estate laws and sales techniques, along with practical experience in the market.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

A good next step would be to research the local real estate market and identify major agencies in Saudi Arabia or other GCC countries.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Medium

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Generating property listings descriptions
- Identifying potential properties based on client criteria
- Basic market research
- Scheduling viewings

Global evidence: General industry trends show artificial intelligence tools are used to analyze property values, personalize search results for buyers, and automate lead generation. The human touch remains vital for closing deals and handling unique client situations.

In your market: This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data. In the GCC, digital platforms are growing, but personal relationships and local expertise are still highly valued in real estate transactions.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Negotiating deals | Understanding client's unspoken needs and desires | Building trust | Problem-solving during complex transactions | Local market knowledge and personal connections

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

Developing your communication and negotiation skills would be beneficial. You could consider joining a debate club or a student organization where you practice explaining ideas and finding agreements.

Sports Coach

Strong FIT

Sports | Worth exploring | New direction | AI impact risk: Low

Your strong enterprising interest at 100, coupled with excellent relationship, communication, and leadership strengths, would make you effective at motivating and guiding athletes. Your desire for impact, at 100, also aligns with helping individuals achieve their physical potential. You could pursue a university degree in sports science, physical education, or a related field.

The sports sector in Saudi Arabia is expanding, with increasing investment in health and wellness programs, creating more opportunities for coaches.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

You would need to gain formal sports coaching qualifications, possibly in a specific sport, and practical experience in training and team management.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

You could consider volunteering to assist a local sports team or community group to gain some initial experience with coaching environments.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Low

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Analyzing player performance statistics (AI can do this faster)
- Scheduling training sessions (AI can optimize)
- Creating generic nutrition plans

Global evidence: Reports on artificial intelligence in sports often highlight its use in performance analytics, injury prediction, and strategy simulation. However, the coaching role itself, which involves human connection and leadership, remains central.

In your market: This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data. In the GCC, sports organizations are beginning to use data analytics, but the hands-on, relationship-driven aspect of coaching remains crucial.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Motivating individuals and teams | Understanding athlete psychology | Building strong personal relationships | Adapting coaching strategies in real-time during games | Providing personalized feedback and emotional support

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

Your natural strengths in relationships and communication are very valuable here. A good next step would be to volunteer with a local youth sports team to gain practical experience in guiding and inspiring others.

Life Coach

Strong FIT

Social Services | Worth exploring | New direction | AI impact risk: Low

Your high scores in relationships, communication, and leadership, all at 100, are excellent for guiding and supporting individuals to reach their personal goals. Your interest in making an impact and valuing freedom, both at 100, also aligns with the nature of this work. A university degree in psychology, counseling, or a related social science field would be a suitable path.

Demand for personal development and well-being support is growing across the GCC, suggesting potential for this career.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

You would need to obtain specific coaching certifications and build practical experience in guiding clients through personal challenges.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

It would be helpful to research different life coaching methodologies and ethical guidelines through online resources to understand the profession better.

How AI may change this career

AI impact risk: Low

TASKS THAT ARE CHANGING

- Providing generic motivational quotes
- Scheduling appointments
- Suggesting basic self-help resources

Global evidence: Industry reports on artificial intelligence in mental wellness and coaching suggest that while AI can offer some support, the core role of a human life coach, involving deep personal connection and tailored guidance, is not replicable.

In your market: This is a general outlook, not verified job-market data. The demand for personal development and coaching services, which rely on human connection, is growing in the GCC.

HUMAN SKILLS THAT STAY VALUABLE

Active listening | Empathy | Building deep trust and rapport | Guiding individuals through personal challenges | Asking insightful questions | Adapting coaching methods to individual personalities and situations

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR YOU

Your strengths in relationships and communication are a great foundation for this field. A good next step would be to seek out opportunities to mentor younger students or lead small group activities to practice guiding and supporting others.

Military Officer

Strong FIT

Government | Worth exploring | New direction

Your strong leadership, strategic, and execution strengths, all at 100, align well with the demanding roles of a military officer. Your high interest in national contribution, security, and status, all at 100, also reflects the values often found in this career. Entry often requires specific military academy training or a university degree followed by officer training.

While it offers a structured career path, government hiring in Saudi Arabia has a temporary freeze in 2026, which is important to consider for entry timing.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

Entry into the military as an officer requires meeting strict physical and academic requirements, followed by specialized officer training.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

You could investigate the entry requirements and training programs for military officers in Saudi Arabia to understand the commitment involved.

Personal Trainer

Strong
FIT

Sports | Worth exploring | New direction

Your strong relationship, communication, and execution strengths, all at 100, are ideal for motivating and instructing clients on fitness goals. Your interest in making an impact and valuing reputation, both at 100, aligns with helping others improve their health. A degree in sports science or exercise physiology, combined with professional certification, is typically required.

The increasing focus on health and fitness in the GCC region indicates a growing market for personal trainers.

WHAT IT TAKES TO GET THERE

You would need to obtain a recognized personal training certification and develop practical skills in exercise programming and client motivation.

WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW

A good first step would be to research accredited personal training certifications available in the GCC region.

04

Your plan

One small step for this week, then a simple 90-day path, built around your top career match

Built around your top match: Investment Banker

Your first step this week

A good first step is to read three job descriptions for an "Investment Banking Analyst" or "Junior Lawyer" position in Saudi Arabia or another GCC country. Look for roles within a large organization, since you showed interest in such environments.

Why: This helps you understand the daily tasks, required skills, and work environment for roles that combine your interest in business (Enterprising) with analytical thinking (Investigative) and structured work (Conventional).

> YOU WILL PRODUCE
> A short list of 3-5 key tasks and 3-5 required skills from these job descriptions.

> WHEN
> Within 2 days, about 45 minutes.

Worksheet:

Job Title and Company Name

Daily Tasks Listed

Skills Mentioned

Any mention of pace or structure?

Days 2-7

Days 2-3 – We suggest you find and watch two short online videos (5-10 minutes each) that show a "day in the life" of an Investment Banker or a Lawyer.
You will produce: A few notes on what surprised you or seemed appealing about each role.

Day 4 – You could identify two university professors, alumni, or family friends who work in finance (like an Investment Banker) or legal fields (like a Lawyer) in the GCC.
You will produce: A short list with their names and contact information, if available.

Days 5-6 – It would help to draft a short email to one of the people on your list from Day 4, asking if they would be open to a 15-minute informational chat about their career path as a student exploring options. Do not send it yet.
You will produce: A draft email.

Day 7 – A good way to end the week is to review what you produced and pick the next step. Consider which career (Investment Banker or Lawyer) felt more interesting after your initial research and whether you want to try to send your draft email.
You will produce: A decision on which career path to explore further next week, and whether to send the email.

Your next 90 days

1 Weeks 2-4 – Build momentum

If you found the Investment Banker or Lawyer roles interesting, it would be helpful to send the informational email you drafted and try to have one or two short conversations with professionals in those fields.

You could also look for short, free online courses (lasting a few hours) related to financial modeling or legal research to see if you enjoy the foundational tasks of an Investment Banker or Lawyer.

It would be wise to update your CV or resume to highlight your academic strengths and any club or volunteer leadership experience, preparing it for future internship applications.

2 Months 2-3 – Build

Consider searching for entry-level or student internships in the finance or legal departments of large organizations in Saudi Arabia or the wider GCC. This would give you practical experience related to roles like Investment Banker or Lawyer.

You might want to explore other matched careers, such as a Real Estate Agent or a Military Officer, by looking up their daily duties and required qualifications in the GCC.

It is recommended to seek out a mentor or advisor, perhaps through your university, who can offer guidance on career paths in fields that align with your Enterprising, Conventional, and Investigative interests.

Your skills to build and practice exercise: Investment Banker

SKILLS TO BUILD

Critical analysis of AI-generated reports – Investment banking relies on accurate and insightful analysis, and while AI can quickly generate reports, the ability to critically review, question, and refine these outputs is crucial.

Strategic client communication – AI can draft basic messages, but the nuanced art of advising clients, understanding their deeper needs, and building long-term trust requires human communication skills.

PRACTICE EXERCISE

A good exercise would be to find a recent financial news article about a company that interests you. Then, use a free AI tool to create a short summary of the article and list three potential investment risks for that company. After that, review the AI's summary and risks. Identify any information the AI missed, misinterpreted, or any risks it overlooked. Based on your review, draft a short, clear email to a hypothetical client explaining one key risk you identified, making sure your language is easy to understand and builds trust, rather than just repeating what the AI said.

YOU WILL HAVE

You will have the original news article, the AI-generated summary and risk list, your notes highlighting the AI's strengths and weaknesses, and your personally drafted client email.
